LETTER-CARRIERS ON TOP.

THEY WON'T HAVE TO BUY NEW CLOTHES THIS SPRING IF THE OLD ONES ARE GOOD ENOUGH-OTHER CONCESSIONS MADE BY

THE POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT, The letter-carriers in New-York City, who have been considerably stirred up recently on account of the unusual method adopted by the Postoffice Department for supplying the men with uniforms, have gained a point in their favor. The Tribune published on Friday a substantial statement of the facts in the case. This was to the effect that hith-erto the postmasters in the larger cities have, after inviting proposals from local manufacturers of clothing, awarded the contracts to those establishclothing, awarded the contracts to those establish-ments which supplied the best standard garments at the lowest cost. Under this system employment was given to operatives living in the communities where the uniforms were worn.

The cloth used for a number of years by the carriers of New-York, Boston and several other cities was what is known as the Standard Indigo Cadet Cloth of the Middlesex Company, at Lynn. Mass. This year the department at Washington re-sorted to the extraordinary course of taking the matter out of the hands of local postmasters and giving the contracts for the entire work to two firms, one in Paltimore and the other in Cincinnati, at prices for summer uniforms $1.45 above the highest bids of the New-York and Boston clothlers who have supplied the uniforms for about fifteen years in those cities. The successful firms finding, it said, that, because they lacked the facilities for manufacturing possessed by the older firms, they must, even at the advance over the highest bids, secure a cheaper cloth, this was provided by a mill at Dover, N. H. The bids covered contracts for both summer and winter uniforms, the former to be supplied now, and the others at the beginning of the colder season of the current year,

It is alleged that in beginning the manufacture of the clothing for summer wear the Baltimore and Clacimati firms insisted that all the men in the different offices must take a full suit, whether the different offices must take a full suit, whether they needed it or not. The carriers appealed to the department on this last proposition, under paragraph 2 of section 615, Postal Laws and Regulations, which reads as follows:

"The postmasters at free delivery offices will cause a careful inspection of carriers' uniforms to be made as often as twice a year, before ordering new ones, and will not require a new suit or any article of it to be procured when that in use may be found to be in reasonably good condition or capable of repair for longer service.

In response to this it is understood that a letter has been sent from the Postoffice Department to the effect that this regulation is still in force, and consequently the buildozing methods of the contractors have met a sharp setbock. It is also said that, in view of the opposition made by the carriers, quiet instructions have been given allowing them to procure their winter uniforms from any source they choose, provided the clothing is of standard quality, color and pattern. This may result in the winter suits being made by the old Toston and New-York manufacturers. It is alleged, too, that the contracts have been modified in favor of permitting the letter-carriers in Newark, N. J., to patronize clothers in that city, who have heretofore done the work for the men in that community.

An inspection of uniforms of the men connected with the New-York Postoffice will begin to-morrow. Some samples of uniforms already ordered under the new dischesses the carrier in the action of the community.

The Baltimore and Cincinnari firms of clothiers evidently believed they had a strong "pull" on the department through some instrumentality. The scheme, it is said, has been tried before, but universectivity. The action of the carriers this year has been so pronounced and so concerted that the row evidently believed they had a strong "pull" on the department through some instrumentality. The scheme, it is said, has been tried before, but universely in the massing of contract audiences at Palmer's Theatre. The play and the player have made a conspicuous success, and they are beginning their fifth month here. Miss Maud

Adams and Miss Olive May are getting a good share of admiration for their part in the acting.
For the second and last week of Mr. and Mrs.
Kendal's engagement at the Star Theatre, beginning to-morrow evening, their programme has been arranged as follows: Monday and Wednesday evenings and Saturday matince will be devoted to "The

Ironmaster." on Tuesday and Thursday evenings they will present Tom Taylor's drama "Still Waters

Run Deep"; on Friday evening Sidney Grundy's comedy "A White Lie," and for the farewell per-formance on Saturday night, "A Scrap of Paper." Joseph Jefferson begins an engagement at the Star theatre a week from to-morrow evening, "Rip Van Winkle" will be the play presented during his stay, which is limited to two weeks. At the close of his engagement Mr. Jefferson goes to his reconstructed home at Buzzard's Bay for the summer vacation. The sale of seats begins on Tuesday morning.

At the Empire Theatre "Sowing the Wind" will begin its fifteenth week to-morrow night. It is now the intention to keep it on the stage for the rest of the senson, or till almost the very end of it. "Gud-

On April 20 it will begin its term in chicago, where it is booked for a stay of four months. In Boston "Charley's Aunt" is still filling the theatre, and it is in its fifth month there. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week the domestic drama "Die Arme Löwin" will be repested at the Irving Place Theatre, and on Thurs-day evening the first production in this country of Davis's comedy "Das Heirathsnest" will take place. This comedy has been produced at many theatres in Germany and Austria, and Mr. Conried has great hopes that it will be received here with favor. All the leading members of his company are in the cast. On Friday and Saturday, matines and evening "Das Heirathsnest" will be repeated.

"Margaret Fleming" will be presented at the Pifth Avenue Theatre to-morrow evening, under the direction of Carl and Theodor Rosenfeld. The engagement is for two weeks only, the Messrs. Rosen page to the field having arranged to produce Gerhardt Haupt-mann's play "Hannele" on April 23. "Margaret Fleming" is a play in four acts by James A. Herne, author of "Shore Acres." A single performance of it was given at Palmer's Theatre some time ago.

Alcide Capitaine still remains the leading attraction at Proctor's continuous performance theatre. She introduces a number of new features this week and at its close will sail for Europe. Among the other entertainers on the long bill are the Fabiana Quartet in character songs and dances; T. D. Ford and J. P. Curran, formerly of "The Dazzler" Company; Frank Goldie and Sallie St. Clair, of the sketch "Ginger Jane"; Joe J. Sullivan and Larry Smith; Swift and Chase; the three Gregory brothers, triple horizontal bar performers, Joe Frynn, who wrote "Mcclinty"; Marion Ells, sculptor in Soap; C. W. Williams, ventriloquist; Brannigan, Wels and Toubey; Georgius Dadigo; Astarte, dancing in mid-air; Adele Martinette, in songs and dances; Ford and Lewis; Troja; Myrtle Tresseder, seriosoniae; the Brownings, sketch artists; Grace Marston, in character changes; Charles Gregory, equilibrist and Rosie Dockrill in Spanish dances.

Large audiences are drawn to the Garden Theatre by the combined attractiveness of Ruce's burlesque "182" and the art examples reproduced with living figures by the Kilanyi troupe. SOLDIERS OF SEVENTY-SIX. MASSACHUSETTS SONS OF THE REVOLUTION TO MARK THEIR GRAVES.

The Sons of the American Revolution in Mas sachusetts, of whom the Hon. Edwin S. Barrett, of Boston, is president, have begun a movement of great interest to all descendants of patriots of the War for Independence. The beautiful old cemeteries of New-England are full of the last resting places of the soldiers of 1776. While many of the graves are well-cared for, corrosion by the elegraves are well-cared for, corrosion by the ele-ments has reduced the tablets of soft lime or sandstone which mark some of the places of in-terment to mere heaps of splinters. In any case, whether the headstones are still standing or not, the proposition is to perpetuate the memory of those who served in the American Revolution by

The ornament at the top of the marker is designed in the form of the badge of the society, with the inscription. "S. A. R., 1775," and a bass relief of the minute man of Concord, Lexington and Bunker Hill, surrounded by thirteen stars. The whole is mounted upon an iron spear, which can be struck into the ground, the spear head retaining it there after it is once settled in place. At the back of the marker are sockets in which can be placed the staff of a small flag, such as is used by the Grand Army of the Republic in the decoration of graves on Memortal Day.

The enterprise of the Massachusetts Society has attracted general attention, and it is expected that the work they have entered upon will interest the societies in other States. While some of the troops of the American Revolution lie buried in nearly every town in New-England, their graves honor than single properties of the original thirteen, also, and owing to the emigration of the veterins westward, the State of Ohlo contains more of these graves than any other in the Union.
